Solid tints and dyes

Fashionable and reduces the amount of light coming through the lenses.

Plastic gradient dyes

Usually dark at the top and gradually lighten toward the bottom of the lenses.

UV protection

Can be added to the front or backside of a lens and can block 98-100% of transmitted and reflected UVA and UVB rays.

Scratch-resistant coating

Applied to plastic lenses to increase their resistance to normal scratching and pitting.

Polycarbonate lenses

One of the thinnest, lightest, and most impact-resistant materials available—plus, they provide UV protection and scratch resistance.

Anti-reflective coating

Can reduce eyestrain caused by glare, reflections, blue light exposure from digital devices, and the “halos” you see around lights at night—plus, it helps protect lenses from scratches, smudges, dust and water.

High-index lenses

Thinner and lighter than standard lenses, these lenses help people with severe vision correction needs.

Photochromic lenses

Automatically darken when exposed to sunlight and lighten when out of sunlight.

Progressive lenses

Line-free lenses that gradually change power with distance.
